

Applications areas for Corenso cores:

Flexible film

In today's highly diversified market, we produce bespoke solutions to meet our customers' varied needs. Our products also adhere to the strict hygiene and legal requirements in niche markets like the pharmaceutical and food-packaging industries. We also meet the continuous challenge of reducing packaging costs and improving the efficiency of production processes. Corenso cores perform on every occasion.

Why choose Corenso:

We put great emphasis on continuous research and development focused on creating services and products that meets our customers' needs. This dedication to R&D together with Corenso's state-of-the-art machinery allow us to add value to our customers' own processes.

Our core optimisation enables us to create tailor-made solutions in a complex and ever-changing industry. Our core specifications range from internal diameters of 25 mm to 1065 mm and lengths from 38 mm to 10,000 mm, covering a wide variety of strengths and outer surface requirements.

Radial crush technology allow us to record the exact forces applied to a core during and after winding, and direct food contact barriers can also be wound onto the core to meet even the strictest hygiene requirements. By controlling the entire process, we are able to consistently deliver only the highest quality products.
